

WORKJOURNAL

WE WILL MAKE A JOURNAL THAT HOLDS EVERYTHING FROM CALENDARS TO MAPS, PHOTOS, AND ALL KINDS OF LOOSE NOTES.

The journal is a book whose binding technique resembles those used in archives. The technique is practical: pages can be replaced, and the construction has a flexible spine that allows for inserting a large amount of loose material.

We will learn not only how to bind the book itself but also how to create customized features such as album pages, accordion-fold pages, maps, folders, and textile pages that can be adapted for different purposes.

We will make a journal that can serve as your own personal garden journal, training journal, house journal, project journal—or even as an archive for various samples or anything else you wish to document.

Materials and tools:

All course materials are pre-cut so that you can focus entirely on your own creative work.

All necessary tools are available to borrow. A small selection of tools and materials will be available for purchase during the course, along with my book “Paper and Stitches” at a special course price.
